MESSAGE FROM THE CEO AND PRESIDENT

Codes of conduct communicate expected standards of conduct and integrity to all those in an organisation. Effective codes that are well communicated throughout the workplace contribute to building and sustaining a culture of integrity, and create a robust and transparent framework in which to operate, both of which are fundamental to good organisational performance and public confidence.

The Local Government Act 1995 (the Act) requires all local governments to adopt a code of conduct to be observed by Council Members, Committee Members and employees. The Shire of Merredin – Employee Code of Conduct (the Code) has been prepared by the Shire of Merredin pursuant to that obligation. Employees are expected to be familiar with the Code and to observe it.

Employees play an important role in the local community. This role includes the delivery of a diverse range of services and facilities and is essential for ensuring confidence in the local government. Further to this, all must act – and be seen to act – with integrity. All have a responsibility to perform their duties in the public interest and to make accountable and ethical decisions.

It is considered that the adoption of the Code:

- operates as evidence of a demonstrable commitment by employees to observe the highest ethical and professional standards in performing their duties and functions;
- will assist in bringing about a good and sound understanding of the respective roles and responsibilities of Council Members and employees, and the maintenance of respect between them; and
- will serve to strengthen the community's confidence in the integrity of those who are responsible for local government in the Shire of Merredin.

Mark McKenzie
Shire President

Lisa Clack
Chief Executive Officer

1. INTRODUCTION

The Shire of Merredin - Employee Code of Conduct (the Code) provides employees with clear guidelines for the standards of professional conduct expected of them in carrying out their functions and responsibilities.

The Code addresses the broader issue of ethical responsibility and encourages transparency and accountability. The Code expresses the Shire of Merredin's commitment to high standards of ethical and professional behaviour and outlines the principles in which individual responsibilities are based.

The Code is complementary to the principles adopted in the Local Government Act 1995 (the Act) and associated regulations, which incorporate four fundamental aims:

- a) better decision-making by local governments;
- b) greater community participation in the decisions and affairs of local governments;
- c) greater accountability of local governments to their communities; and
- d) more efficient and effective local government.

1.1 STATUTORY ENVIRONMENT

The Code addresses the requirement in Section 5.51A of the Act for the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) to prepare and implement a code of conduct to be observed by employees of the Local Government, and includes the matters prescribed in Part 4A of the Local Government (Administration) Regulations 1996.

The Code should be read in conjunction with the Act and associated regulations. Employees should ensure that they are aware of their statutory responsibilities under this and other legislation.

1.2 APPLICATION

For the purposes of the Code, the term employees includes persons employed by the Shire of Merredin or engaged by the Shire of Merredin under a contract for services. The Code applies to all employees, including the CEO, while on the Local Government's premises or while engaged in Local Government related activities. Clause 3.15 of this Code (Gifts), does not apply to the CEO.

1.3 GUIDING PRINCIPLES AND ETHICAL STANDARDS

The following are the guiding principles of this Code:

- We act with reasonable care and diligence;
- We act with honesty and integrity;
- We act lawfully;
- We act professionally in a clear and transparent manner;
- We avoid damage to the reputation of the Shire of Merredin;
- We are open and accountable to the public;
- We base decisions on relevant and factually correct information;
- We treat others with respect and fairness;
- We will not be impaired by mind affecting substances; and
- We ensure that decision-making takes into account the interests of the Shire of Merredin ratepayers and residents as a whole.
